The weather is likely to be rainy, followed by fair; cooler; northeast gales.

A geatleman asked us the other day:
"Why can you sell lumber for so much less than others!" The reason is very apparent.
We sell just about twice as much limber as any other lumber yard in the city, and so we can afford to let our stock go on the principle that "large sales make up for small profits."

THOS. F. COOE, Secretary.

WELL DRESSED AND ILL DRESSED.

To be ill dressed is not merely to be out of fashion. A man's garments may be quite a la mode so far as "cut" goes and still be ill dressed. Neatness is, above all things, the prerequisite for a well-dressed man. Leave ciple that "large sales make up for small profits."

We are accommodators, too. There is no waste to our lumber, and especially is this so of Boards. We have the largest variety of lengths and widths of boards in the city. Longths as follows: 8, 10, 12, 14, 18, 18, 20 ft. It is really hard to stop when we get to this subject of boards, for boards are our "hobby." If you contemplate using boards of any kind for building, &c., let us give you exactly the width you want at the lowest prices.

THE IDEAL VS. THE REAL.

Michael Angelo, Millett, Corot and artists of like caliber have earned their reputation through true innate srtistic merit—by constantly striving to achieve better work in their calling. No less has "Reen" striven for perfection in the sartorial art. Not by endeavoring to see how cheaply fairly good clothes might be made, but by endeavoring to see if each and every successive garment may not be the peer of its predecessor. You can always be sure of the best obtainable results in patronizing Keen. That this fact is daily becoming better known is evidenced by his extensive and constantly increasing list of patrons, who include those highest in political, professional and commercial life.

The President Has Decided to Make th Appointments Without Delay.

It is understood that the decision has been reached by the President to fill the several vacancies which have recently occurred in the public service. The foreign missions now vacant are in Italy, Turkey, Switzerland, Denmark and Portugal. All these will be filled speedily. The Italian mission and probably others, it is said, will be filled some time today. Gen. Agnus and Gov. Cheney are among those to go to Rome. The only offices which it is said will not be filled by appointments from the outside are the commissionership of the general land office and the first assistant postmaster land office and the first assistant postmaster generalship. To fill these places it is said that Acting First Assistant Postmaster General Fowler and Acting Commissioner Stone will be promoted. The vacancies in the Treasury Department will be filled as soon as Secretary Foster presents the names of those whom he has selected for the places.

It is very generally believed that ex-Representative McComes and District Attorney Cole will be appointed to the vacancies on the District bench.

TROUBLE FOR THE DEMOCRATS. The Demand for Tariff Reduction at Financial Legislation.

PASSED BY THE SENATE THIS SESSION-GREAT DEFICIENCIES WILL PROBABLY BE FOUND AND THE REVENUES MUST BE INCREASED.

There is not believed to be the least probability that any of the numerous "pop-gun" ballity that were sent over to the Senate by the House at the last session will be considered by the Senate at this session. It is hardly likely that any of them will be reported from the last session will be reported from the last session. It is hardly likely that any of them will be reported from the last session. It is hardly likely that any of them will be reported from the legal form. At three minutes to be sufficient to be sufficient to the learned that shortly before 9 o'clock the authority to hang Neill was handed over by the high sheriff of the country of Lendon to Hangman Billington in accordance with the legal form. At three minutes to 9 Billington, accompanied by an assistant who carried the pinioning material, entered the prison. Congress they may not be so insignificant in power as not to be able to give the controlling party a great deal of trouble. At the coming session there will be no chance to do anything except make appropriations unless the necessities of the case compel some agreement on a blan for raising more revenue. Containly the plan for raising more revenue. Certainly the idea of cutting the revenues still lower by the side by warders. He walked firmly. A deadly passage of any of the free trade bills of the last session will not be entertained by the Senate showed no other trace of emotion. Close begations, on account of the reduced revenues, son and the appropriations this year are not likely to be any less than they were last. In fact, the government cannot be run on any less money has long as present laws are in force, and no efforts on the part of Mr. Holman to "trim things to the trap doors beneath the cross beam, from down" will meet with much favor with his own which a rope with a noose end was dangling. down" will meet with much favor with his own party. Moreover, it will be realized when Congress gets together that the republicans are still in power in the Senate, until the 4th of March, and an attempt to cut down expenditures by failure to make appropriations provided for by law would be apt to hang up some of the appropriation bills in such a manner as to make an extra session a necessity. The republican Senate may be disposed to let the House put the new administration on short rations where the administration alone will be affected by it, but the democrats themselves will not by it, but the democrats themselves will not want to do this just when they are about to sit

SOME LARGE DEFICIENCIES. There will be no river and harbor bill this year, but money for carrying on the contract work provided for at the last against with lasted a few seconds, and then the body work provided for at the last session will have hung motionless. work provided for at the last session will have to be carried in the sundry civil bill, and there will be some large deficiencies which will fully make up for any saving from that quarter. With the increased expenditure for pensions, the delayed obligations coming in for settlement and the revenues falling off because of an expectation that importations may be made at a better advantage after the next Congress has had a whack at the tariff, it may be accepted as absolutely certain that the revenues of the government in the next fiscal year, beginning the list of July next, will fall far short of the expenses of the government.

The body was cut down at 10 o'clock. A cast of the head was then made.

At noon a jury viewed the body and returned a formal verdictan accordance with the medical testimony that death had been caused by a fracture of the neck.

The body was then placed in a perforated coffin, into which a sack of quick lime was poured. The features showed no trace of the man's violent end. The only sign of what had caused death was a red line about the neck, made by the noose, and a deep impression below the ear where the ring had caught.

The body was buried under the flagstones in the corridor through which Neill had passed

Notwithstanding the fact that orders were issued directing that the execution should be strictly private the representative of the Asso-ciated Press was accorded permission to enter Newgate prison, where Neill had been confined the committee. Whatever further is to be done with the tariff will, it is thought, be left to the democrats in the next Congress. There has been some idle talk about the republicans throwing up their hands in the next Congress and letting the democrats do as they please. What it is believed the republicans will do will be to defend their institutions of protection as be to defend their institutions of protection as front. This rendered Neill absolutely incapable well as they can at all times, and in the next of moving his arms or hands. The condemned

The proposition to work out the tariff commission at this session to work out the tariff commission at this session to work out the tariff commission at this session to work out the tariff problem before the meeting of the next Congress, so as to enable the House to get to work soon after meeting, is not apt to find favor with many democrats, their fear being that such a course would be construed to mean that they are not now ready and are afraid to tackle the work would probably agree to such a commission if the House should propose it this winter, but such a course would be apt to awaken suspicion on the part of ardent tariff reformers that there was a purpose to trifle with the question.

There is room for considerable speculation as to who will have the honor of giving his name to a new tariff which the Fifty-third Congress and means committee of the present House, and in the usual order of things might expect to retain that position and give his name to the new tariff, but before the work of the last session closed his health broke down and he was common closed his health broke down and he was common closed his health broke down and he was common of death for a long while and was so greatly debilitated and his general health so affected that it is now improbable that he will be equal to the task which is improsed more than the point of death for a long while and was so greatly debilitated and his general health so affected that task which is improbable that he will be equal to the task which is improsed more than the faging of the secretion of notable and obscure criminals. In the report which he is now preparing Mr. Wanamaker will devote the space more to a review of what has been accomplished under his administration than to the advocacy of new ideas. He will tell of the success of the country free delivery and house to house collection and dwell upon the advantages which these new phases of the postal service offer. He will, of course, renew his recommendation relative to postal saving banks, postal telegraph and telephone. He has endeavored to have these recommendations adopted and in spite of his failure he is still firmily convinced that the postal service and the public would be greatly benefited by their being put into operation.

New Minister to Turkey.

It is understood that the appointment of minister to Turkey has been tendered to Mr. D. P. Thompson, a prominent citizen of Portland, Ore. This is the mission vacated by the resignation of Mr. Solomon Hirsch. It is said that the appointment will be contingent upon Mr. Thompson's ability to assume his duties December 15. The State Department declines to discuss the matter.
